

The hungry intruder escaped into the woods with a jumbo sized bag of marshmallows.

Leo emerged from his tent and saw the chaos around the cooler.

He looked at {text:child_name} and said in disbelief, “You didn’t even scream. You just handled it. I thought we were toast.”

“I was terrified. But Ranger Miller said the bear is more afraid of us than we are of it. I just needed to remind the bear of that,” {text:child_name} replied.